"Bring Your Daughter to Engineering Night at Marquette"

10.14.09

530-8pm

Haggerty/Olin

Room 202

Parents are invited to bring their high school daughters (juniors and seniors) to learn about engineering and the career opportunities available to young women in this dynamic field. There will be a limit of 1 parent per daughter. We'll commence with an informal dinner of pizza and subs. Then we'll see a special presentation by Celeste Baine, Director of the Engineering Education Service Center and a nationally known figure in engineering education. The daughters will then work with Marquette Engineering students and alumni in hands-on workshops while their parents attend a presentation on preparing for college, and the opportunities available at Marquette. There is a fee of $20 for each parent/daughter team, which includes the cost of dinner and materials. The deadline to enroll is 10.1.09.

Itinerary:	530-615pm	Pizza, subs, and networking
	615-650pm	Presentation by Celeste Baine: "GIRLS RULE"
	700-750pm	Workshops for students
		Presentation for parents (Jon Jensen)
	755-800pm	Closing remarks

Celeste Baine

Q: Why a special event for young women?

A: Because old stereotypes die hard; many young women do not view engineering as a viable career choice.
